November 1988

Dear Parents and Friends:

The fact that this is the first issue of MBA News and Views for the school year 1988-89 should not imply that nothing much has been taking place on "the HILL" since Labor Day. If it suggests, on the contrary, that everyone--students, faculty, and staff--has been unusually busy and fully engaged in all the things going on, then that would be nearer the truth. And for me--completely new to the MBA community, to the school routine, and to the great variety of activities in which everyone is involved--the experience of feeling busy and preoccupied in the day-to-day routine has been all the more marked, and very little time seems to have been available for desirable "extras," such as getting an issues of News and Views off the press!

I am happy, nonetheless, delayed as it may be, to say a hearty "Thank you" to all of those in the MBA family who have welcomed Rosie and me with such generosity and good will. We have been made to feel immediately accepted and completely "at home," and for us, after so many years in a close-knit community such as Sewanee, it has been wonderful to have so quickly that sense of belonging. We are grateful for your indulgent tolerance of all we do not know and are unfamiliar with, and we share a great deal of personal excitement and optimism in looking forward to making more acquaintances and even firmer friendship in the months ahead.

After only this relatively brief stretch of time at MBA, I can say, much more fervently though not more sincerely than I said it back in April and May, that I am honored to have become a member of this historic and vitally alive institution. I consider it the rarest of professional opportunities, and of personal good fortune, to be given this responsibility. And I am eager to join with you, especially as parents, in a partnership effort: the joint and, I hope, symbiotic adventures of enabling your sons to grow into their adult lives with a self-confidence, a level of academic and personal achievement, and a quality of alert attentiveness to the needs of their communities which would always mark them as graduates of MBA.

Sincerely,

Douglas Paschall

Please take advantage of some of these very interesting events scheduled for this fall. Please call Mrs. Dunkerley (292-8502) for more details on the events listed in the enclosed newsletter and to share information about upcoming events in your church, your "other schools," your organizations, etc., that might be of interest to MBA parents.

ATTENTION! ALL JUNIORS AND THEIR PARENTS

Thinking about spring break? We are looking for parents who would be interested in leading an all-expenses-paid trip to visit colleges with a group of our best and brightest.

We would very much like to offer a version of the traditional college trip (5 days spent visiting schools primarily in Virginia and North Carolina). However, we would also welcome suggestions from parents who would like to lead a group to Mid-western or Northeastern or Texas schools, for instance.

The College Counseling Office will make all arrangements with the colleges, the motels, and the Greyhound folks. The parent leader(s) will have the opportunity to influence the final list of colleges to be visited.

Please call Mary Comfort Stevens in the College Counseling Office if you would be willing to lead either the Southeastern trip or an alternative. Thank you!

BRIAN STEPHENSON IN PG-13 PLAYERS

Brian Stephenson has been chosen to take part in this season of the PG-13 Players a Teen Theatre troupe made up of 14 area high school students. The cast members develop improvisational skits which enable audience members to explore some tough teen issues.

FOUR (MORE) MBA STUDENTS TO RECEIVE EAGLE SCOUT AWARDS

Later this month and early in December, one 12th grader, Jimmy Thompson, a 10th grader, George Adams, and two 9th graders, Welling LaGrone and David Proctor, will receive their Eagle Scouting Award at Courts of Honor presentations. Since only two of every 100 Boy Scouts achieve this highest honor, these young men, and with them their families and the entire MBA community, have reason to be proud of their accomplishment. Each of the Eagle Scouts carried through a significant service project: Jimmy Thompson constructed 30 nesting houses for wood ducks in the Cheatham Wildlife Management Area; George Adams constructed locust park benches on a nature trail near the Warner Nature Center, and Welling LaGrone restore a weather station, also near the Center, and David Proctor painted all of the trail and road signs in both Edwin Warner and Percy Warner Parks. Congratulations to these four new Eagle Scouts.

MBA ALUMNUS HONORED

Steven Parker, Class of 1987, in his freshman year at UT Knoxville with a 3.96 average, received the Outstanding Freshman Award in the College of Business. He also received Outstanding Freshman Award from his fraternity and was inducted into two National Honor Societies--Alpha Lambda Delta and Phi Eta Sigma. Steven has received three scholarships: Callie Wood Ross Scholarship, Estes Kefauver Scholarship, and the Rob Kelly-Tom Edwards Memorial Scholarship. Congratulations, Steven!

MBA DEBATE TEAM OPENS FALL PROGRAM WITH USUAL DISTINCTION

The MBA Debate team began the season at the National Earlybird Tournament held at Wake Forest University with 117 schools competing in debate and individual events. The MBA varsity team, made up of Jonathan Reeve and Eugene Park, reached the elimination rounds, as did the junior varsity team comprised of Will Gray and Bill Sastry.

At the Maplewood Invitational Tournament on September 30 and October 1, 17 schools were involved in the competition, which concluded with the varsity first-place debate trophy awarded to MBA debaters Eugene Park and Babu Paruchuri who compiled a perfect 4-0 record and successfully defended the championship won by last year's team. Additionally, Brad Griffin won third place in humorous interpretation after perfect preliminary rounds.

The junior varsity team of Hal Jones and Will Gray traveled to Des Moines, Iowa, to match skills with 60 other teams from throughout the Midwest. This MBA team compiled a record of 4 wins and 1 loss and placed fifth in the division. Hal Jones was 6th place individual speaker at the tournament.

The MBA Debate team competed against 31 schools in debate and individual events on Saturday, October 15, at the Woodbury Invitational Tournament. In varsity debate, the MBA team of Babu Paruchuri and Will Gray placed first in the varsity division, edging out teammates Jonathan Reeve and Eugene Park who finished third. In fourth place was the MBA team of Hal Jones and Craig Davis.

In the novice division, MBA's Warren Connally was selected the Most Outstanding Debater at the tournament by virtue of his winning the first-place individual speaker award in novice. Also receiving a top-ten speaker award in novice was Garrett Kyle and John Wesley. The MBA team of Warren Connally and John Wesley finished in third place as a novice team after losing only one round.

In individual events, Brad Griffin placed second in humorous interpretation of literature. With a strong showing in debate and with Brad's second place win, MBA placed third in tournament sweepstakes.

The MBA Debate team won first place at the Hunter's Lane Tournament over the weekend of October 28. Our team of Joon-Ho Yu and Eugene Park compiled a record of four wins and no losses to place first in the varsity division. Meanwhile, Brad Griffin placed second in humorous interpretation of literature at the tournament in Calhoun, Georgia, this same weekend. Brad compiled a preliminary record of four first places and one second in preliminary competition and placed second in the final round which had contestants from five states.

Recently, the MBA team of Jonathan Reeve and Eugene Park placed ninth at the St. Mark's Invitational Tournament in Dallas. Overall there were 94 teams in the two-day event.

"BO" SUNDIUS DAY DECLARED BY MAYOR BONER FOR OCTOBER 17

In honor of his conspicuous long-term dedication to his one-man personal fund-raising project for the Middle Tennessee Chapter of the Leukemia Society, "Bo" Sundius, MBA eighth-grader, was presented certificates of appreciation in a school assembly on October 17 on behalf of the Society. In addition, Mayor Boner declared that date "Bo Sundius Day" for Metro Nashville and Davidson County in recognition of his singular accomplishment: "Bo" Sundius has single-handedly raised fund, through obtaining pledges from businesses and citizens for lap-swimming, totalling some $20,000 over the past five years. This is truly a remarkable effort of service for which MBA is proud and pleased to add its own congratulations to those "Bo" has recently received.

MBA TO HOLD COLLEGE ADMISSION WORKSHOPS FOR SENIORS

At the suggestion of Senior Mothers, MBA's College Counselor Mary Comfort Stevens and Headmaster Douglas Paschall will conduct for interested seniors a series of workshops on two of the more worrisome aspects of college applications: the college essay and the college admission interview. The first of these workshops will be held on Tuesday, November 8, on essay-writing, and the second, on interviewing, will be held the following Monday, November 14. Dr. Paschall's many years of experience as a faculty member on a college admissions committee, as an admissions and financial aid counselor, and as an Admissions Director make him a useful resource for seniors this year. He and Ms. Stevens will be directing students to actual "hands-on" practice in both of these aspects of their college applications.

RHOADS HALL IN TSSAA STATE TOURNAMENT

By virtue of winning the Region 6 individual golf championship at McCabe on the 10th of October, Rhoads Hall represented MBA in the TSSAA State Tournament at Henry Horton State Park on October 18-19. This was Rhoads' third consecutive appearance in the state tournament. He played well, posting scores of 76 and 79 to finish twelfth in the 80-man field. Rhoads has been a mainstay of the MBA golf program for three years, and his leadership will be missed next year.

NOVELIST ALAN CHEUSE VISITS MBA

On October 14, MBA played host to writer Alan Cheuse who read to assembled grades 9-12 a short story set in Nashville, entitled "The Sources of Country Music," and again on Monday, October 17, when he spoke at an assembly about learning to pay attention to the "artist" within their own everyday experiences. Cheuse is a regular commentator on books for NPR's "All Things Considered," and has published such notable fiction as The Bohemians, based on the life of John Reed, and The Grandmother's Club, now included in Penguin's Contemporary Literature series in paperback. Now residing in Washington, D.C., Cheuse also teaches writing at George Mason University in Fairfax, Virginia.

Dear MBA and St. Cecilia Parents:

A group of MBA and St. Cecilia parents have been exploring vehicles for bringing MBA and St. Cecilia students together so that they can make friendships in a non-dating context.

Our first joint venture will be a weekend retreat to Wholemeal, a Beersheba, Tennessee vacation home provided by the Nelson Andrews family. Wholemeal has plenty of room to accommodate up to 125 people overnight.

Departure will be from MBA on Saturday, November 19th, at 9:00 a.m. We will return to MBA around noon on Sunday. The cost of the trip is ten dollars.

Transportation will be by charter bus and school vans. There will be one adult chaperone per fifteen students. Absolutely no alcohol or tobacco will be tolerated. Any student caught with either will be reported to school authorities and prohibited from any participation in future joint ventures. Teams of one MBA and one St. Cecilia senior will be assigned proctoring duties each hour throughout the night to assist the chaperones.

Activities will include hiking, indoor basketball, playing games, watching movies, singing, sliding down the fireman's pole and jumping in the jacuzzi. The drawbridge will be raised at night to prevent anyone leaving the house.

Sleeping will be in two large bunk rooms, one for girls and one for boys. Quiet will be maintained in the bunkrooms for students wishing to sleep starting at midnight.

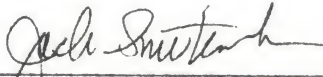

Students should bring Saturday lunch and snacks. Dinner, soft drinks, and breakfast will be provided. Bring a sleeping bag, a towel, warm clothes, and a swimsuit if desired. It will be colder in Beersheba than in Nashville.

Participation is open to freshman through Seniors and is on a first come first serve basis. To reserve a space, return the enclosed permission slip and ten dollars to John Smithwick at MBA or Kara Devine at St. Cecilia.

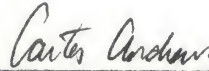

The phone number at Wholemeal is 1-692-3995. For additional information, please contact any of the following parents:
